

Team Dynamics: The Importance of Feedback

7:00-8:30PM on Wednesday, November 30th
BA 2159 (Bahen Centre for Information Technology)

Want to increase the productivity of a team that you are a part of? How about finding a better way to incorporate feedback into your team process? Then come out to this workshop on the importance of feedback within a team setting! Whether you are a part of a team for class, outside of class, or of course, within EWB, this workshop can help your project team work better through the use of tools such as structuring feedback loops, rapid solution iteration through the use of project level feedback, and action planning time.

Sound interesting? Then come on out, and check out our event page here!

On behalf of EWB U of T's GE lead(s),
